STRENGTH AND WEAKNESS

(Your strong points and weak points)

Number 1 through Number 9 have each its own good and bad aspects.

The good aspects are called the strength. It is the (+) point. It is an additional virtue.

The bad aspects are called the weakness. It is the (-) point. It indicates backwardness.

Fate acts in human life of its own accord without paying heed to anyone.

But intelligence is an endowment that can be manipulated with the help of the brain.

Let us say a person who is walking carefully by the side of the road is knocked down to death by a running bus. That is his fate.

Let us say another persons quarrels with his wife, gets drunk and commits suicide.

That is the intention of the mind.

The first is the way fate acts. The second is the way the brain acts.

Isn't there a different between the one who dies struck by lightning and another who lays his head on the railway track to be killed by the passing train?

The lightning that strikes cannot be prevented. That is as fate ordains.

But before laying his head on the railway track, had he thought for a little while, he could have avoided it.

The above illustrate the difference between fate and intention.

Even if fate ordains the unfortunate, intentions should not lead man to the bad. When the mind is properly used, only the good befalls man.

Those who have a lucky name shall not indulge in evil acts. If they do so, they good effects of the lucky name are lost. One has to be careful.
